WELCOME

June 2, 2018

Dear Friends and Colleagues,

Welcome to the Institute for Global Law and Policy at Harvard!

Founded in 2009, the IGLP this week celebrates nine years of scholarly innovation and intellectual engagement. The Institute aims to encourage a collaborative network among young scholars and policy makers who share our commitment to new voices and viewpoints for thinking about global governance, social justice and economic policy, as well as our interest in foundational questions of theory and history.

In our first nine years, more than 1500 scholars from scores of nations and universities have participated in our activities. Our affiliated faculty have convened a wide range of research teams for multi-year research collaboration, and we have supported dozens of our Workshop alumni as they share their work with others.

Our annual residential Workshop has convened more than 850 junior scholars representing more than 85 countries to work alongside 195 convening faculty, share their research and reflect together on new thinking in the fields of international law, political economy, and global governance. We will convene the Workshop again in January 2019 in Bangkok with our friends at the Thailand Institute for Justice. Let me encourage you to join us there – and to encourage your friends, colleagues and students to apply.

This week, let me extend a warm welcome to all who are new to our community. I very much hope you will find discussion partners here at IGLP who share your own interest in new and heterodox thinking about law and global policy.

None of this would be possible without the support of my colleagues here at Harvard. I am particularly grateful to the many donors who have supported our efforts from the beginning. The Real Colegio Complutense and Cleary, Gottlieb, Steen and Hamilton have been with us from the start, and our January Workshop would not be possible without the generous support of the Thailand Institute of Justice.

Our June program this year offers a rich smorgasbord of research projects reinvigorating heterodox traditions for understanding law's role in world affairs. And yet, for all our work together, there is much that remains a mystery. We know that global poverty, conflict, injustice and inequality are legal and institutional regimes - but how are they reproduced and what might be done in response? How should we understand - and how might we map – the levers of political, economic, cultural and legal authority in the world today?

I hope we will all leave the Institute stimulated by new perspectives and challenged to answer these questions in new ways.

Cordially,

David Kennedy

SPONSORS AND FRIENDS

Many hands have contributed to IGLP's success over the years. We are particularly grateful to the faculty and to the young scholars who have shared their ideas and taken the time to engage in sustained collaboration with one another.

We have encouraged law faculties to join with us in supporting this faculty development opportunity for young scholars from the developing world. We are grateful to the School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London, The Bernard and Audre Rapoport Center for Human Rights and Justice at the University of Texas, the University of Toronto School of Law Graduate Division, the Osgoode Hall Law Faculty, the Melbourne Law School in Australia, Tilburg University Law School, the Universidad de Los Andes, the University of Cape Town, Universidad Complutense de Madrid and the Sciences Po Law School in Paris, all of whom generously facilitate the participation of faculty and students in the Workshop.

The IGLP founded The Workshop in 2010 with the generous support of Santander Universities. Many sponsors and donors have contributed to our work, including the Qatar Foundation, Visa, Garrigues Law Firm and The Thailand Institute of Justice. We are grateful to all our donors for their encouragement to innovate as we strengthen the network and diversify of our programs.

The Real Colegio Complutense is a non-profit organization established in 1990 by Complutense University of Madrid, Spain in order to foster scholarly and scientific exchange between Harvard University and Spanish universities and institutions.

Cleary Gottlieb Steen & Hamilton L.L.P. is a leading international law firm with 12 offices located in major financial centers around the world, which has helped shape the globalization of the legal profession for more than 60 years. Their worldwide practice has a proven track record for innovation and providing work of the highest quality to meet the needs of our domestic and international clients. In recognition of the firm's strong global practice, its effectiveness in dealing with the different business cultures of the countries in which it operates, and its success in multiple jurisdictions, Cleary Gottlieb received Chambers & Partners' inaugural International Law Firm of the Year award.

The Thailand Institute of Justice (TIJ) is a research institute affiliated with the United Nations Crime Prevention and Criminal Justice Programme Network or UN-PNI.

TIJ's vision is to be a promoter of change to enhance justice system and promote a culture of lawfulness in Thailand and wider international communities through research, capacity-building and policy advocacy activities in crime prevention, criminal justice and the rule of law. Building on Thailand's engagement in the UN Commission on Crime Prevention and Criminal Justice and the UN Crime Congresses, TIJ serves as a bridge that transports global ideas to local practices, focusing on cross-cutting issues including the interconnection between the rule of law and sustainable development, peace and security.

TIJ primarily seeks to promote criminal justice system reform through the implementation of international standards and norms related to the vulnerable groups in contact with the justice system while promoting coordination among domestic justice constituencies and strengthening regional cooperation, particularly within ASEAN region. One of the core beliefs of TIJ is to invest in human resources and practical knowledge base on the rule of law since TIJ recognizes that the rule of law and an effective and fair criminal justice system are integral components to inclusive economic growth, human rights protection and sustainable development.

COLLABORATING ACADEMIC INSTITUTIONS

The IGLP collaborates closely with numerous institutions around the world, scaling our reach and impact through co-sponsored programs, workshops, faculty initiatives, and other research projects. This institutional support and engagement has created a powerful global framework for cross-disciplinary expertise and collaboration.
